

WELCOME to the 2008/9 Trend Catalog

Trend has been the UK market leader for Routing and Woodworking accessories for over 50 years.

This new catalog features a comprehensive range of our routing and woodworking products that will help woodworkers take up new challenges and enhance many of their projects.

We are particularly excited about introducing our new contractor jigs to the North American market. The jigs offer substantial cost benefits to contractors, as time can be saved against traditional methods of hanging doors, fitting kitchen countertops and mortising locks.

The Airshield face shield has become a firm favorite in the States and we have built on this success by launching the Airshield Pro. This new product has many unique features such as an eight hour battery and twin filters for excellent dust protection.

Not only are we introducing new and innovative products, but we have also introduced an informative website with an on-line purchasing facility. The website is unrivalled for information on Routing, with many excellent features.

We are also fully committed to a high level of customer service. Our warehouse in Elizabethtown, Kentucky provides an ideal location for distribution and we continue to work closely with our retail partners in order to provide you with all the information and service you would expect.

I sincerely hope you will find using our products a rewarding experience and if you are in anyway unhappy with our products or service, I would like to hear from you personally.
